Brand guidelines

How Acme Co. looks, sounds and shows up. Use this guide for anything a client or the public will see.

Acme Co.

Practical design and technology for growing teams

What is in this guide

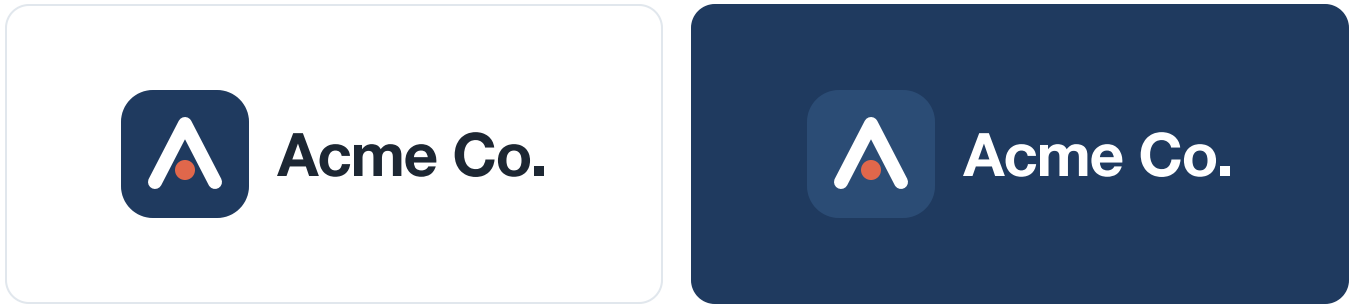

SECTION	WHAT IT COVERS	PAGE
Our logo	The mark, the wordmark, clear space and sizes	2
Colour	The five brand colours and how much of each to use	2
Typography	Typefaces, sizes and the type scale	3
Voice and tone	How we write for clients and the public	3
Photography	What good Acme photos look like	3

Short on time? Use the logo files in Marketing / Brand, keep plenty of white space around the mark, and write the way you would talk to a client across the table.

Who looks after the brand

Priya Shah leads the brand for Acme Co. Ask Priya before you change the logo, add a new colour or produce anything printed in large numbers. Everyone is welcome to use these guidelines for proposals, reports and slides.

Our logo

- Keep clear space around the logo equal to the height of the coral dot, at least.
- Never place the logo smaller than 24 pixels high on screen or 10 mm in print.
- Use the white version on navy or on photographs. Do not stretch, rotate or recolour the mark.

Colour

Navy and white carry most layouts. Use coral sparingly for the one thing you want people to notice, such as a call to action or a key number. Teal, sand and gold support charts and backgrounds.

COLOUR	USE IT FOR	SHARE OF A LAYOUT
Harbor navy	Headings, the logo, dark backgrounds	About 30%
White and sand	Page backgrounds and space	About 60%
Coral	One highlight per page	Under 5%
Teal and gold	Charts, tags and illustrations	About 5%

Typography

Display, 34 / 40

Section heading, 20 / 26

Body text, 13 / 21. Helvetica Neue is our typeface everywhere: documents, slides and the web. If it is not available, use Arial.

Voice and tone

WE ARE	WE ARE NOT
Clear: short sentences and plain words	Clever at the cost of being understood
Warm: we write to people, not at them	Casual about facts, dates or prices
Confident: we say what we recommend	Pushy or full of superlatives
Helpful: we tell people what happens next	Vague about who does what

Photography

- Real people at work, in natural light. No staged handshakes.
- Leave space in the frame for a headline when a photo will carry text.
- Ask before photographing a client site, and store photos in the client's project folder.
